One of the seven wonders of Charlotte.

The Charlotte Observer

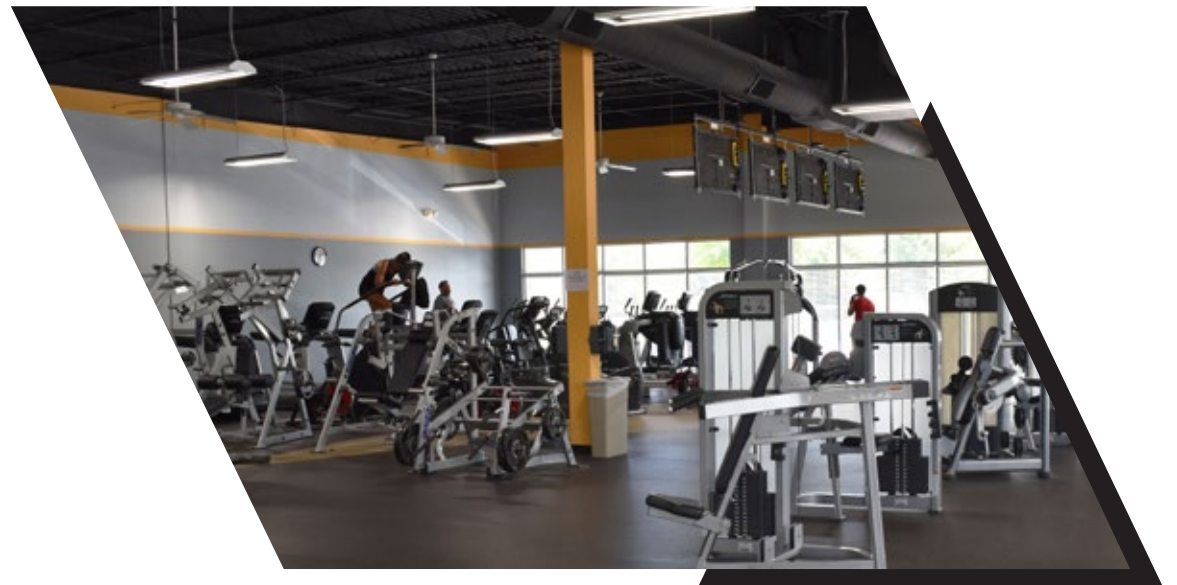

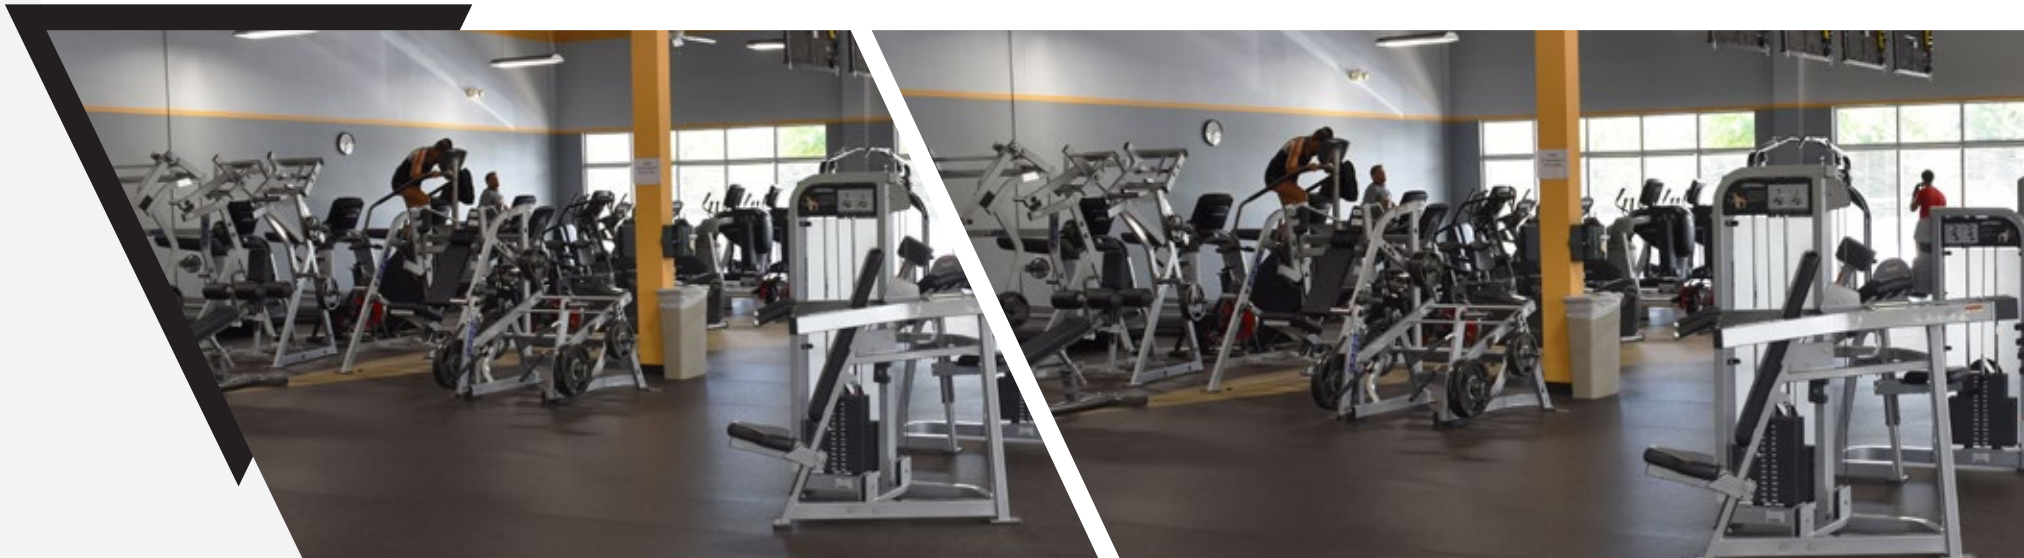

Metalmorphosis was conceived by Count Riprand Arco, Founder and Chairman of American Asset Corporation, when the Count set out to design a visually stunning focal point for AAC's 200-acre office park development - Whitehall Corporate Center.

With its grand plaza, Whitehall Corporate Center presented an opportunity to create something monumental - a sculpture that would inspire both native Charlotteans and visitors alike.

Count Arco approached internationally renowned Czech Sculptor, David Cerny. Cerny's idea for a one-of-a-kind sculpture was conceived, crafted and executed from its original concept, a testament to his technical savvy and his talent as an artist. Cerny says, "I was thinking about doing something as a centerpiece. I knew I wanted to employ water from the beginning." In addition to the water element, Cerny's design also incorporates a complex infrastructure and choreographed movement on a magnificent scale, creating a beautiful synergy of form and function.

FITNESS CENTER

Whitehall Fitness Center is a 6,500 SF state-of-the-art facility exclusive to Whitehall Corporate Center tenants. Whitehall Fitness Center is staffed with a personal trainer and offers cardio and strength training equipment, a variety of group classes as well as locker rooms with showers and towels.
